

For customers

The conceptual origin of the Group's business activities is "meeting customer needs". To that end, we are making efforts to improve quality, develop technologies and products and enhance the service network. We will aim to accurately identify and anticipate customer needs, which change from one era to the next, and by responding to these needs, will work to enhance customer satisfaction.

Fluid Machinery & Systems Company

In addition to pumps, a mainstay business since the Corporation's establishment, our fluid machinery products and systems meet the needs of our customers and society based upon superior technology and rich experience.

Fluid Machinery & Systems Business

Corporate

Precision Machinery Business

Environmental Engineering Business

Environmental Engineering Company

The company, on the basis of advanced environment- and energy-related technologies centering on the water treatment technology and combustion and gasification technology, provides total solutions for various customer needs.

Precision Machinery Company

The Precision Machinery Company supplies semiconductor-fabrication equipment and component equipment corresponding to customers' needs in the nanotechnology age. In addition, the company is developing and manufacturing a broad range products corresponding to the next generation.